Thank you for your interest in our products! Franklin Fixtures has the best reputation in the industry for high quality, lasting fixtures. We enjoy knowing that our fixtures are the only commercial fixtures of their kind sold on the aftermarket by name – they are that good.

Please reference relevant terms and conditions listed on the inside back cover and know that our small company will do everything in our power to make sure that you are pleased with your Franklin purchase. Period.

All Franklin fixtures are offered in 12 standard melamine laminates & wood veneers: Solstice, Spectra, Vintage, Hardrock Maple, Bourbon Cherry, Black, White, Natural Red Oak, Espresso Oak, Chocolate Cherry, Natural Maple, Natural Cherry.

Contact us for additional colors, stains or materials, including custom-match colors.

Material selection affects appearance, durability and cost. Because our fixtures are designed to accommodate any material or finish, your choices are virtually limitless. All of our wood and laminate fixtures are produced in our own factory, where we quality-control the entire manufacturing process.

OUR EXTRAORDINARY STORY IN SUPPORT OF LITERACY AND U.S. MANUFACTURING.

This is a love story. It began with two grateful people wanting to do something wonderful with the gifts they had in each other – something that mattered to U.S. manufacturing and economies and a thing that impacted literacy in America.

In 2014, Lisa and Dave married after working together for almost a decade. They considered their union a miracle of sorts – and at a time and age that many would be considering retirement, they left the security and stability of executive employment and went “all in.” They wanted to work together and to make a difference.

And in that quest, they fell in love with Franklin Fixtures – a 40 year old company devoted to independent booksellers, libraries, museum stores and college campuses. What was there to love? A legacy of fixtures unlike any other in the world – fixtures dedicated to engagement with books and related merchandise. A quick search revealed that Franklin Fixtures were special – they were the only fixtures sold by name on the after market, the only fixtures that held their value and use after decades of use... and, to the Uhrik’s surprise, they discovered that there is a lot of technological savvy in the making of great fixtures for book spaces? The secrets surprised and invigorated the Uhriks.

They wanted to expand operations to Tennessee, where economic development and good jobs were critical needs, and determined that a move from Cape Cod to Cookeville would be a good way to better serve Franklin’s national market. When they pitched this idea to bankers, it fell flat. They presented 17 total banking packages before finding an SBA lender who could help them make it happen. No one thought there was a future in bookselling, the competition had all folded and only local millwork companies were trying to fill the gap as not everyone understood the difference between these fixtures and something from a local millworker or a mammoth disposable fixture company like Ikea... And to move a long-standing company for one and done customers who would never need to replace their fixtures? The banks were unenthused. But Lisa and Dave found a way to do it anyway – not for the profit potential, but for the great impact that this small manufacturing business could have with people who love helping their communities grow and learn.

OUR WHY

Since the 4th grade, Lisa’s passion for America’s development and for the problem of literacy and U.S. manufacturing have been driving forces. Her “Pledge to America” speech in high school won accolades that paid her way through undergraduate work and facilitated wild and wonderful exposure to some of the country’s top thinkers and leaders. Growing up with a

Dad in manufacturing leadership and a family in education, Lisa’s career in developing efficient, engaged U.S. manufacturing led her to that first meeting with Dave.

Dave began working in manufacturing at the age of 16 – as a leader and supervisor – and had weathered many industry turns, emerging as a top manufacturing leader in a corporate setting. He wanted to work with Lisa and saw them as the “dream team,” but it was important to him not to consult, but to actually make something – to preserve and prove that U.S. manufacturing can, in fact, compete. He had done that many times in his career and was ready to do it again.

Manufacturing is sexy. At least to the Uhriks, it is. There is a reason that entrepreneurs are encouraged to let someone else around the globe make things – manufacturing is also hard. The risks are extremely high – with equipment costs, maintenance and employee needs in the U.S. – and the margins are extremely low, competing with the world. Effective manufacturing is hard, elusive and a little mysterious – but the heartbeat of an effective organization is electric, alive and fundamental to local economies and quality of life. And that makes manufacturing sexy.

“I’m excited to see Franklin grow & help shape these spaces that are so important to individuals & communities.”

– Dave Uhrik

Dave proudly stands with Franklin's first set of solar panels

The love story today extends to a whole family of 35 employees... and their families, too. In a solar-powered, highly sustainable space that produces tiny amounts of scrap and leads the way in lean, green processes – the Franklin family makes fixtures at a quality level that is unparalleled. They are not only the best in the world – they strive to be the best for the world too. And in the continued, unlikely dedication to independent booksellers, libraries, museums and college campuses – Franklin continues to thrive and to contribute each day to literacy and to successful U.S. manufacturing.

The Uhriks remain thankful to be involved and excited about the future, which includes a bookstore of their own as well as promotion of a new book about the growth of our country right now: America Becoming. That book positions you – the booksellers, museum store leaders, college campus creators and library leaders – at the forefront of America's development needs right now. Reading is essential to creating and reframing our declarations of INTERdependence. But you know that. And that's why we say that our company doesn't have customers – Franklin gathers community collaborators and friends that are served with passion. It's a love story that includes you.

You've probably noticed that some spaces just feel better than others – they seem to have a certain sort of atmospheric quality that makes them enjoyable to be in. Other spaces can sometimes just feel awkward. While you can't really put a finger on what it is, something feels off.

What is this subtle quality that makes some designed environments feel great, while others don't? Christopher Alexander called it "aliveness" – a deeper wisdom that we can draw from in design to create a sense of peace, harmony, & cohesion.

Christopher Alexander's theories about the nature of human-centered design have affected fields beyond architecture, including urban design, software, sociology & others. C.A. has designed and built over 100 buildings, both as an architect & a general contractor.

What Works for You: Pattern Languages of Successful Retail Spaces

Timeless patterns inform the best spaces. And we've collected the patterns that make the most magical retail spaces – the spaces people most enjoy. The places to which we return and feel a sense of belonging.

Franklin Fixtures Owner, Lisa Uhrig, M.Ed., M.Ed., has thoughtfully put together years of research and conducts workshops virtually and nation-wide on Pattern Languages of Successful Retail Spaces. We hope you'll be able to join one of her workshops in the future – sign up to be alerted of her Pattern Language workshops on our website: franklinfixtures.com/contact-us.

On the following few pages, we'll explore and show examples of some of the patterns we've identified. These are useful tools for specialty retail, booksellers and those creating spaces for people.

- 1 Hierarchy of open space and gradients of intimacy
- 2 Built-in seating
- 3 Frequent rearrangement of space
- 4 Waist height merchandising
- 5 Child Caves
- 6 Good materials
- 7 Communal Eating
- 8 Activity Pockets

Hierarchy of open space and gradients of intimacy

We waded into a store like we experience a home.... from a public transition space to increasingly personal spaces that we select within the store.

Examples of Pattern Languages in Retail

Built-in seats

There's something magical about tucking in between shelves to take a closer look before buying.

Greedy Reads, Baltimore, MD

Frequent rearrangement of space for multiple purposes

There is LIFE in a space that is moving and that can be moved with ease. It feels adaptable, inviting and friendly all at the same time.

"From a sequence of these individual patterns, whole buildings with the character of nature will form themselves within your thoughts, as easily as sentences." - C. A.

Waist high and it will fly.

Waist Height is a pattern language facilitated by fixtures that makes a huge difference to your bottom line.

Sidekick Coffee & Books, Iowa City, IA

Child Caves

Children love to be in tiny, cave-like places – places that make them feel big. In the course of their play, they will seek out these spaces to get into and under.

"The more living patterns there are in a place...the more it comes to life as an entirety ... [and] has that self-maintaining fire which is the quality without a name." – C.A.

Good materials

You can feel good work and strong materials. They ground a space. Your invisible sales staff has a quality that is absorbed and felt on entrance.

Communal Eating

Let your fixtures help facilitate some sort of shared food and beverage -- even if it is a simple water or coffee table or the sale of pre-packaged foods with a table spot to share them.

"Without communal eating,
no human group can hold together." - C.A.

Activity Pockets

Use the super power of flexible fixtures to rearrange & create cozy nooks reflecting different customer interests. Facilitate interaction with pockets of activity planned in those spaces... a chess game here, a book club there, a children's maker-space over there.

What Works for You: How Franklin Fixtures Work Differently Than Others

Timeless patterns inform the best spaces. We've collected the patterns that make the most magical retail spaces – the spaces people most enjoy. The places to which we return and feel a sense of belonging.

- Story-telling in display – Bring books and sidelines together and tell a story.
- Bottom tipped shelf & T-shelf angles – Book spine-to-eye contact at all levels, even on the bottom shelf.
- Variable shelf depths – things don't sell in the shadows. We are drawn to the light. Use of Feature Face Out Shelves built to bring books forward.
- Flexibility for change - Shelves need to move regularly to showcase new books & merchandise.
- Made for books with strength for heavy loads – Good, quality materials, grounding a space.
- Pyramid tables with book heights considered in the design
- Octagonal fixture to maximize book & sideline display while creating visual interest.
- Mission-style table (and others) with strength for books.
- Inventory protection – again, quality materials that solidly protect your books.
- Heights, angles and flexibility, facilitating quick turnover and increased sales.

“When they have a choice, people will always gravitate to those rooms which have light on two sides, and leave the rooms which are lit only from one side unused and empty.” – C.A.

Magic Retail Patterns

- They are in a walkable community path (1 mi. radius -- consistent with findings of social architecture, urban renewals like Seaside)
- Frequent rearrangement of space for multiple purposes/gatherings
- Hierarchy of open space – gradients of intimacy
- Inter-generational engagement
- Gender inclusive environment
- Network of learning and web of shopping
- Part of a mosaic of subcultures
- Identifiable neighborhood
- University as a Marketplace
- Small services without red tape
- Individually owned shops
- Number of stories, less than 3
- Pedestrian Street
- Small parking lots
- Entrance Room
- Tapestry of Light and Dark
- Light on two sides
- Pools of light
- Things from your life
- Ceiling height variety
- Different chairs
- Entrance transition
- Seat spots outdoors, movable seating
- Something roughly in the middle
- Common areas at the heart
- Activity pockets
- Open shelves
- Waist-high shelves
- Both built-in seats & movable seating
- Child caves
- Secret place
- Good materials
- Ornament
- Warm colors
- Communal Eating

Materials and colors evoke different feelings, depending on which ones are used.

Take a few minutes with the following pages to find your inspiration.

Inspire. The word means "to breathe life into."

Through the physical spaces we frame together, we engage, invite and breathe life into the lives of the occupants. This is a moment to think about your own inspirations.

- What makes your eyes light up?
- What sparks your curiosity?
- What spaces make you feel welcomed and relaxed?

Think about your favorite space for a moment and mentally look around: what is it about that space that works for you?

It is likely that your cherished spaces have much in common with the kinds of space you're creating now – your store. The physical store is an expression of your "why" and at its best it is an accurate representation of you. We want to buy from some one – not anyone. We want to shop in your space because it is uniquely yours.

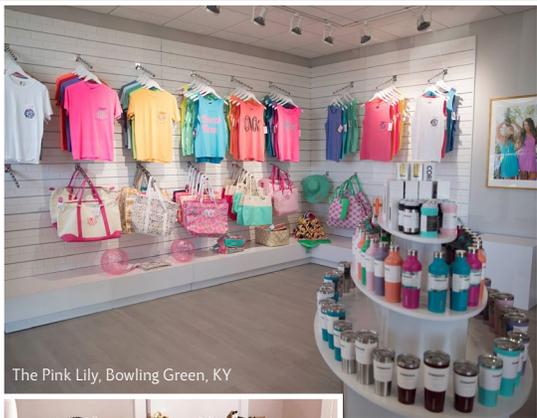

Your store should be as unique as your thumbprint.

In the pages that follow, we've collected some images from stores filled with unique life in hopes that they help you articulate and inform your own, unique, direction as you create and select.

We've grouped photos in color tones because color is to the eye what music is to the ear --- color and light tell us what we should expect and how we should feel in the space. Color and light and sight lines with forms can give us the feeling of a great big hug or of a sacred, reverent space. Color evokes whimsy and play, serious study, peaceful reflection.

Shape your store in ways that are both functional and that inspire you and your friends and customers.

An Unlikely Story

"I think that there is really a place for bookstores in small communities.... People don't go to the general store at the center of town anymore. They go to Target and to Costco. So bookstores have this opportunity to step in and be the reason that people come together and get to know each other."

- Jeff Kenney, Diary of a Wimpy Kid author in a February 27, 2015 Boston Globe article

Before you start fixture shopping, please review our Fixture Basics.

DIMENSIONS

Dimensions listed are typical, but any size is possible.

SHELF STYLES

The shelf styles listed are those normally supplied with a specific fixture, but many other styles are available. Please refer to the Shelves & Inserts section on page 22 of our color catalog and to page 20 of Franklin Facts for more information.

NUMBER OF SHELVES

In most cases, we normally supply one shelf for every twelve inches of fixture height, including the bottom shelf. For example, an 84" high case would come with the fixed bottom shelf and six adjustable shelves. Of course, additional shelves can be ordered. PLEASE NOTE: There are some exceptions to this guideline. If exact shelf quantities are a concern, please inquire.

OPEN TOP/FLAT TOP

Any fixture which is 72" in height or less is normally manufactured with an Open Top and an adjustable fixed top shelf. Any fixture over 72" high is manufactured with a Flat Top. However, we can reverse these guidelines or can alter any fixture to meet your specific requirements.

FINISHED/UNFINISHED TOP

Any fixture which is 72" in height or less is normally manufactured with a Finished Top, since it can be seen from the floor. Fixtures over 72" in height are normally manufactured with an Unfinished Top. However, there are circumstances when you might want to specify a Finished Top on a tall fixture (e.g., if the top of the fixture can be seen from a stairway).

USABLE SHELF DEPTH

The Usable Shelf Depth (referred to as "USD") is the actual amount of shelf depth that can be used for display. Shelf Back thickness and the space behind the shelf back are not included in this dimension.

SHELF BACK HEIGHTS

Shelf Backs prevent shelves from bowing under the weight of the product. In addition, they also protect the merchandise and support it at the proper display angle. Our standard guidelines on the heights of Shelf Backs are as follows:

- A 5" USD has a 3" high Shelf Back.
- A 6 1/2" USD has a 3" Shelf Back. (a 5" Shelf Back is a popular option)
- A 8 1/2" USD has a 5" Shelf Back.

PRICING

We offer our built-to-order fixtures in any size, shape, material, or finish. We have prepriced many of these combinations, which creates a large and complicated price list. For the convenience of our customers, we quote prices based on their requirements. It's quick and easy and can be done right over the phone. All quotations are confirmed in writing.

All dimensions shown are nominal. If your installation requires precise dimensions, please give us a call. We reserve the right to modify product specifications and designs where necessary.

Layout & Design

We offer complete project management, including the layout and design of your new store fixtures. Starting with your space's measurements, we'll work on your store's conceptual layout. Together we will choose fixtures that optimally display your products while creating a space designed to sell. And if you have difficult-to-work-around features, such as support poles or awkward spaces, we'll incorporate them into the design.

Our space renderings give you a real sense of what your store will look like. Following is the space layout we made for Lark & Owl Booksellers. This particular store selected beautiful Natural Cherry fixtures with a blue HPL interior back. Let's take a closer look...

Donna Paz & Liz Dion

As an independent bookstore owner, you want a space that reflects your unique character and feels special to your community, creating a community gathering place.

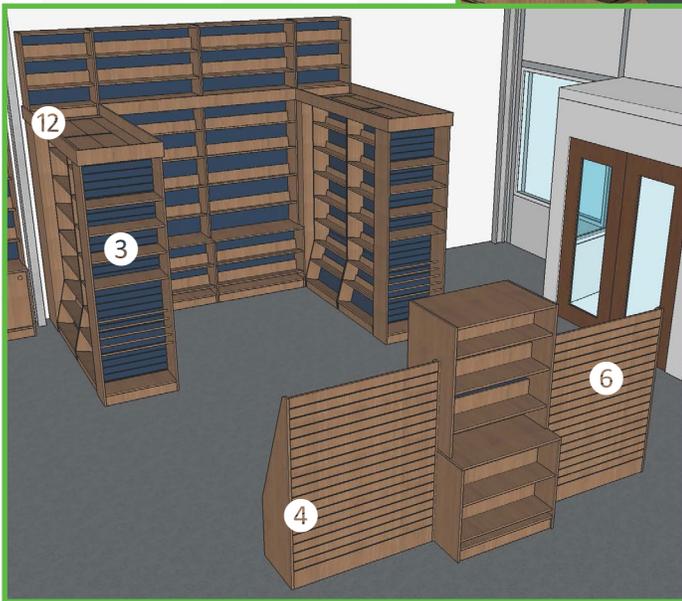

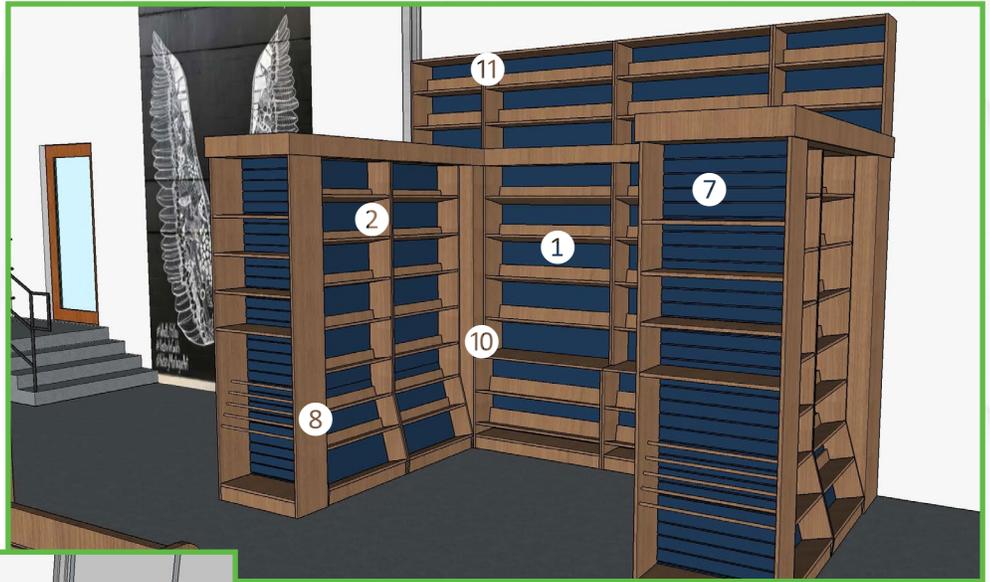

The resources offered by The Bookstore Training Group of Paz & Associates are the best way to lay the foundation for your success. If you need one-to-one help with business plans, bookstore design, inventory selection and management, cafe operations, or business valuations, we can't recommend Paz & Associates enough!

Combining creative flair with technical expertise, bookstore architect and retail lighting specialist Liz Dion is ready to transform any space from a historic building, existing spaces or new construction.

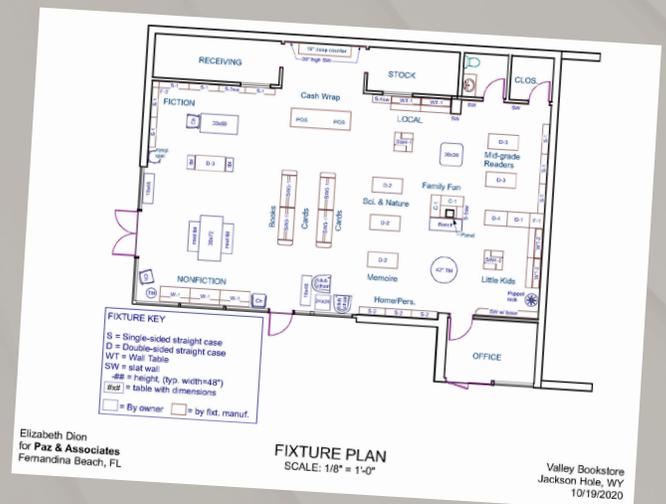

Lark & Owl Booksellers' space took advantage of our many different fixtures and options. In these renderings, look for the following:

1. Wall Tables
2. Flared Single Sided Cases
3. Straight End Caps
4. 1 Tiered Cascades
5. Double Sided Straight Cases
6. Slatwall finished back
7. Slatwall interior back
8. Wrapping paper dowels
9. Slatwall end panels
10. Corner columns
11. Overstocks
12. Valences

When you work with Donna and Liz, you'll harness the knowledge of people who adore indie bookstores and work to create a unique sense of space for each bookstore they design. [Remember that "thumbprint" tip on page 15?] With their combined skills in bookstore architecture, retail lighting, merchandising and customer service, you can count on a bookstore design with all its elements carefully thought out.

Shown right is one of many fixture plans by Liz Dion, this one for Valley Bookstore in Jackson Hole, WY. With incredible attention to detail and a great knowledge of merchandising, Liz set Valley up for success before they opened their doors. Anyone can buy fixtures and fill them up with books, but to truly be successful, you need a plan. We highly recommend teaming with Paz & Associates to prepare you and your store for success. Vist them at: pazbookbiz.com.

CASES

Straight Cases Straight Cases provide maximum flexibility in a minimum amount of floor space. Their shelves can be installed at practically any angle, and can accommodate the widest variety of shelf styles, inserts, options and accessories. Because so many different display techniques can be utilized, this type of fixture is applicable to the largest assortment of merchandise.

Straight cases can be single or double sided, open or flat top. From there, your options include slatwall end panels, slatwall interior backs, varying widths and heights, castered, varying shelf types, valence, wired or unwired lights, wood or glass doors, tipped (standard) or flat bottom shelf, and unfinished, finished or slatwall finished back.

Flared Single Sided Cases

Flared Cases are very popular because they provide the best display angle and maximum product visibility. Cases are available with either Open Top or Flat Top. We recommend adding a slatwall end panel to double sided cases – the ability to integrate slatwall display with shelf display enhances flexibility. Also, an Overstock can be installed above any single-sided case against a wall to increase storage and display space.

Famous Flares: The Shop Around the Corner

20 years ago Books of Wonder was replicated as the "Shop Around the Corner" for the film "You've Got Mail." Because Franklin Fixtures had made the shelving for Books of Wonder some 19 years earlier, it made sense that Franklin make the shelving for the film (for both that store and the Fox Books set). So the fixtures became movie stars.

Franklin Fixtures wants to clarify that "You've Got Mail" told the story of an Indie closing to a big box, which was fiction. In real life, that didn't happen; in real life, owner Peter Glassman has expanded the store half a dozen times in the last 40 years and is in the midst of some exciting plans for 2021. Books of Wonder has two stores in NYC. "And we're still using the Franklin Fixtures we bought over 30 years ago and those we've added along the way." says Peter.

Dimensional Slatwall

Notice how Whirlwind Book Bar uses a bit of brick slatwall in the midst of their shelving? It creates a powerful "pop" for face out books and mixed merchandise storytelling displays. (Many customers believe they're magically using an exposed brick wall in this old bank building.) A bit of dimensional slatwall extends their brand and can do the same for yours. It comes in a plethora of forms – bricks, woods, subway tiles, concrete and more – so you can let your imagination run wild. Our Dimensional Slatwall catalog can be found on our website.

DISPLAY TABLES

Union Ave Books, Knoxville, TN

Tables prominently display a broad selection of merchandise. They are available in a wide variety of styles. Pinwheel display, octagonal, pedestal and tier tables are usually equipped with casters to add flexibility.

Octagonal tables are fun as well as functional. They allow for a large amount of product to be displayed in a variety of ways -- table top, shelf, and slatwall -- while maintaining a small footprint. Adding a tabletop riser greatly increases product visibility.

Octagonal - 30"H x 48"W x 48"D

DISPLAY TABLES

No matter the current trend, tables will always be a necessary and desirable part of stores, from bookstores to boutique retail to coffee shops. This spread is a sampling of our table offerings.

If you're looking for something a little different, we encourage you to visit our Bespoke Franklin section on our website.

Nesting Tables w/ Riser

Nesting tables are an affordable and effective way to promote multiple products in your retail store design. The versatile nature of the nesting table design allows you to increase and decrease the surface space of your merchandising tables depending on your current merchandising needs and store layout.

Interchangeable shelves and shelf types are an integral part of the Franklin Fixtures. Their proper use can completely change the function of a fixture, enhancing its display capabilities and providing great opportunities for cross-merchandising.

The dimensions of most shelves depend on the style and dimensions of the fixture. Your project manager can help you determine the right type and size shelves for your store.

Above: Closeup view of Franklin's standard T-shelf with books merchandised 1) spine out and 2) face out. Note how the shelf back prevents the book from touching the back of the case in either position, keeping the book corners in pristine condition.

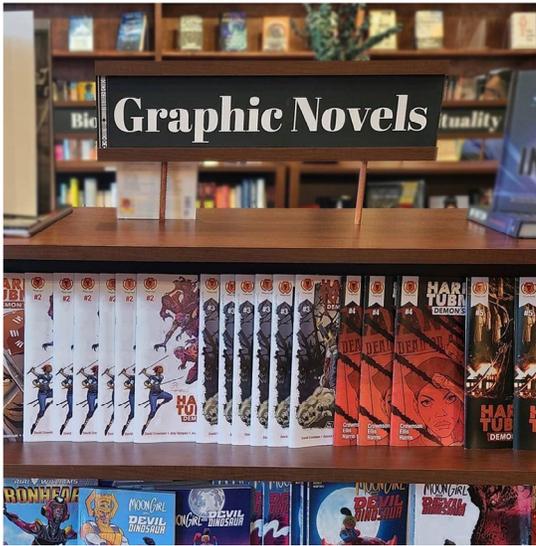

Left: Our custom micro market shelves are flat shelves w/ a 3"H acrylic lip on the front. The shelves sit on adjustable slatwall brackets, displaying the merchandise (candy) at the perfect angle.

If you don't see a shelf offered that works for you, just let us know. We are happy to collaborate with you and customize your perfect shelf solution!

T-shelves provide product support and shelf stiffness, but the backs are visible on a two-color case when not fully merchandised. If you're wanting the appearance of flat shelves but the functionality of T-shelves, you can choose the shelf backs to be the same color as the case back, effectively making the shelf backs disappear. Above: White wall tables with crimson backs. Standard all-white T-shelves on the left and contrasting shelf back T-shelves on the right. Straight single sided cases shown to the right of the corner.

SIGNAGE

Signage is an extension of customer service. They help communicate information such as product categories, suggestions, and policies.

Franklin's signage enhances the overall design and efficiency of your store, adds to its character and stimulates sales. While we offer signage as unique, colorfully bold and brightly lit as you can imagine (check out the Bespoke section on our website), signage on this page is what store owners generally request and order. Thinking about signage on the front end of your order will save you headache down the road and keep your store's design cohesive.

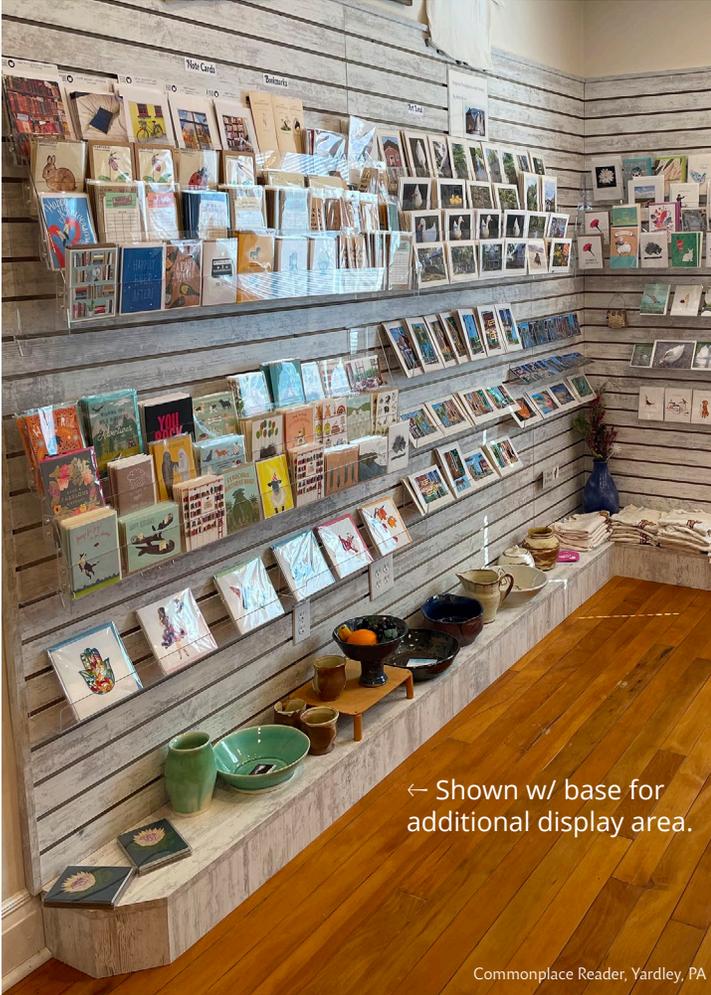

You've got options! Choose your signs to be made in coordinating woods or metal. Your project manager can help you navigate your options. Following are our basic options:

- Wood Dowel: single or double sided
- Wood: Case or Wall Mount
- Metal: Case or Wall Mount
- Metal: on magnetic base
- Metal: on stand-alone bases
- Laminate or Chalkboard sign inserts, category lettering optional and available directly from Franklin

"We spiffed up the new store with over $60,000 in new store fixtures from Franklin Fixtures, who have been making our store fixture for us since 1986. We've been working with Franklin Fixtures through 3 owners now and they have always been great partners to work with. Some of our glass enclosed cabinets for our old & rare children's books date back to 1986 and still look great!"

Peter Glassman, Owner | Books of Wonder

"They worked with me to measure, design, and arrange the fixtures to utilize every inch of the space to its maximum display potential while ensuring ADA-compliance. The computer-generated graphics helped me visualize where everything would be, so I could plan without the surprises that come with opening a new store. In the end, everything just slid into place like it was meant to be there."

Keith Lewis, Owner | Bookie's Bookstores

"Working with Franklin Fixtures was a great experience. As a new store owner, it was very helpful to have their expertise and insight into what types of fixtures would be most effective in my store. Working through the floorplan together also helped me to get a better handle on my opening inventory order, as I could clearly see which units would be where in the store and could calculate how many books I needed per section.

I am particularly pleased with a custom-designed piece that was built to wrap around a pesky support pole in the middle of my shop; now it's a tiered table that looks like it's always been there! The cascade shelves are another favorite, as they allow me to really showcase all my beautiful picture books.

I had the opportunity to visit the plant in TN; knowing that my fixtures were being made here in the US meant a lot to me."

Kate Snyder | Plaid Elephant Books

Terms & Conditions

Franklin Fixtures has the best reputation in the industry for high quality, lasting fixtures and enjoys knowing that our fixtures are the only commercial fixtures of their kind sold on the aftermarket by name - they are that good.

Please reference relevant terms and conditions listed below and know that our small company will do everything in our power to make sure that you are pleased with your Franklin purchase. Period.

Shipping: All shipments are FOB Cookeville and usually shipped blanket wrap or by container/motor freight. The shipper accepts responsibility for the fixtures arriving in the condition in which they are shipped at time of shipment.

Damage in transit: Responsibility for the safe delivery of goods passes to the delivering carrier upon shipment. If the customer discovers damage or shortage upon receipt of their order, they must file a claim with the delivering carrier. We will be happy to assist in any reasonable way, but only the Buyer can initiate a claim.

Returns: Franklin Fixtures cannot accept returned goods without our prior written consent. Requests for returns must be made within ten days of receipt of merchandise. All returns must be received in resalable condition and are subject to a handling and restocking charge of $20. We cannot accept returns of Built-to-Order fixtures or Custom-made accessories. Returns must be shipped prepaid and are subject to inspection and acceptance before credit can be issued.

Limited Warranty: Products manufactured by Franklin Fixtures are warranted to the original Buyer against defects in materials or workmanship in normal use for one year after date of shipment from Franklin Fixtures. Any item determined by Franklin Fixtures to be defective in material or workmanship will be, as the exclusive remedy, repaired or replaced, at the option of Franklin Fixtures. No warranty or affirmation of fact, expressed or implied, other than as set forth in the limited warranty statement above is made or authorized by Franklin Fixtures. Any liability for consequential and incidental damages is expressly disclaimed. Franklin Fixtures' liability in all events is limited to, and shall not exceed, the purchase price paid. Products not manufactured by Franklin Fixtures may be covered by warranties available from the manufacturer of those products. Franklin Fixtures makes no warranties to those defined as consumers in the Magnuson-Moss Warranty-Federal Trade Commission Improvement Act.

Errors and Omissions: Typographical and clerical errors are subject to correction.

TESTIMONIALS

"As Commonplace Reader is housed in a former Victorian home built in the mid-1880s, our team wanted to create a warm, cosy and comfortable feel to the bookshop. This was easily achieved with the beautiful and sturdy solid wood fixtures from Franklin. We were able to match the shelving with some stand alone period furniture. Mixing and matching styles is a reflection of the quality and clean lines of Franklin Fixtures.

A very positive feature for us as booksellers is the flexibility of slat wall – again clean lines and several choices of display racks for items as disparate as cards, socks, puzzles and books.... We have small genre labels that are perfect for the shelf display holders.

Overall the simplicity of Franklin fixtures and the sturdiness to handle books of all sizes makes enticing customers with our selections displayed relatively easy!!"

Liz Young, Owner | Commonplace Reader LLC

"Our faithful loyal Customers are raving about how beautiful and functional Rainy Day Books is now with our Franklin Fixtures Upgrade! I am honored and thrilled that Franklin Fixtures might see fit to include some of our Rainy Day Books Photos in your Marketing Materials!"

Roger Doeren, COO | Rainy Day Books

"I had an exceptional experience with Franklin Fixtures. The thing that impressed me the most was the level of communication. Everyone was so proactive about keeping me in the loop. I greatly appreciated it, since working with construction vendors was stressful."

Wendy Jacobs, Owner | Valley Bookstore

"Everyone we worked with at your establishment was so helpful and kind. Everyday as I enter my shop I am amazed at how beautiful and perfect it is. We send thanks to you for all you did to help us last year. I will never forget how quickly you made everything happen for us! Thank you."

Cammie Fuller, Owner | The Open Book

"We've experienced record growth at Simply Mac this year and... we're just getting started! I'd like to thank Dave Uhrick, Jr. at Franklin Fixtures. Without partners like him, our growth would not be possible. If you have any fixture needs, [the folks at Franklin Fixtures] are experts in their field!"

George Levins, Director | Simply Mac

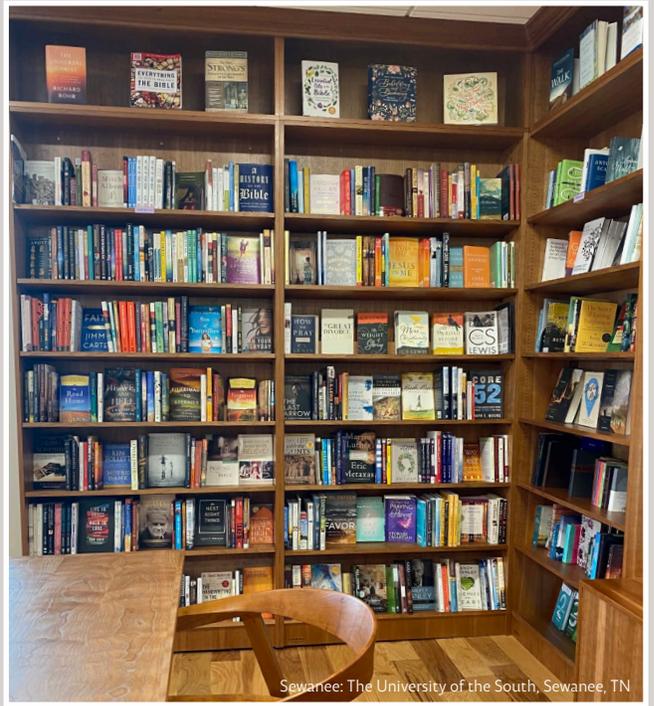

"I highly recommend Franklin Fixtures. Every single step from consultation to ordering, delivery to production quality has been top-notch! The cases are well designed and beautiful! Plus their customer service is awesome!"

William Binderup, Owner | Elite Comics

"Our work with Franklin Fixtures goes back over three decades and there has not been a creative, professional fixture manufacturer that has dedicated themselves to our niche market like Franklin. As booksellers, we know the importance of supporting local; using fixtures that are hand-crafted in the U.S. by a socially responsible family-owned company is how we can walk the talk. Fixtures from Franklin are beautiful, safe, flexible, and will last decades. We are fortunate to have a vendor in our industry that shares our values, offers quality products, and takes pride in the outcome of every new bookstore they help create."
